

APPARATUS AND SYSTEM FOR FACILITATING CHILD DISCIPLINE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus and system for facilitating child discipline includes the use of a good decision chair configured to teach a child to make proper decisions and behave well. In an exemplary embodiment, the good decision chair is a cover that hangs over an existing chair. The cover includes pockets used for storing discipline aids, such as decision flags, help cards, and a music CD. The decision flags can be labeled stop, think, and go and serve as physical tools to enable parent-child communication about correct behavior.
